Candidate Seeks to Crush
McCarren in Brooklyn.

McCLELLAN OUSTS DELANEY

Mayor Accepts Resignation of Trust-
Lieuutenant Who Wanted Nomination for Supreme Bench—Republicans Working in Harmony—Both Leaders Making Many Speeches.

New York, Oct. 8.—Affairs in the Democratic camp here are still at sixes and sevens, with little or no prospect of actual harmony in the party on the candidate for Mayor. Hearst, there is no doubt, that the Independence League and Tammany will get together on a judicial ticket, but the break in Kings between Hearst and Senator McCarren will probably never be healed.

79-day the Independence League nominated a Congressional ticket in Kings on which there was only one of the men put up by the regular organization. It was announced that an independent ticket would be launched soon. The Democratic nominee for Congress whom the Independence League endorsed is Robert Baker, famous for his refusal to take a railroad pass when in Congress before.

That Hearst is going to fight McCarren tooth and nail all along the line is indicated by the tactics of his managers. McCarren was the only big leader who stood out against Hearst to the end at Buffalo, and apparently Hearst is determined to get even with him for the course he pursued at Buffalo. Orders have been given for the hiring of every public hall in Brooklyn from now until election, so that no other party can hold a mass meeting, and the Hearst orators will whip it up for their candidate and at the same time shue off mass-meetings among the Republicans and McCarrenites.

Hearst Adherents to be Named.

The determination to put an independent judicial ticket in the field was arrived at when the executive committee of the Independence League met on Sunday night, and it is likely that among the candidates to be selected will be Charles Frederick Adams, an old-time disciple of Henry George; E. Gaston Higginbotham, the magistrate whose action on the bench during the recent two-fare dispute on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit cars caused so much comment, and Alexander S. Bacon, who talked about trailing the city's flag in blood at the big meeting that was held immediately after the municipal election. The latter was against the alleged fraudulent practices at the polls by the McCarren forces.

Mayor McClellan came to the front in local politics again to-day and caused a deal of stir by announcing that he had accepted the resignation of Corporation Counsel John J. Delaney, who had heretofore been one of his most trusted lieutenants.

Delaney Wants Judgeship.

Delaney broke with the mayor over a nomination for the Supreme Court bench. Delaney had long desired to be elevated to this bench, but several times he has been obliged to step aside for one else. It was the mayor's intent to give him the coveted place this year, but McClellan was beaten in the primaries, and since then he has been hopelessly estranged from Murphy. The result was that he could not deliver the stump himself in New York, but it is said, over to Murphy, and his resignation is the result. It is declared, however, that he will not get the nomination he seeks. Neither Delaney nor McClellan would discuss the resignation.

Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity Ellison was immediately appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Delaney's resignation.

Mr. Ellison's place in the water supply department, no new fire commissioner has as yet been appointed.

League to Name Candidates.

Mr. Murphy's talk to-day led everybody to believe that he had arrived at an understanding with Hearst on the judicial ticket, but in spite of this agreement, the Independence League will put up a number of candidates for the senate and the assembly.

Mr. Murphy was asked: "Will the Tammany nominees for judgeship be the same as last year?"

"I answered that a week ago," was the reply. "I said then that they would be straight Democrats."

"Do you consider John Ford, of the Independence League, a Democrat?"

"I consider any man a Democrat who is supporting the Democratic State ticket this year."

There is absolutely not a ripple of excitement on the Republican side.

All the managers of the party and its candidates seem to be working in close harmony. Mr. Hughes, the candidate for governor, invaded the County Court last night, opening the State campaign outside the city. Mr. Hearst made four speeches in Manhattan to-night.

HUGHES BEGINS TOUR TO-DAY.

Republican Candidate to Spend This Week Up State.

New York, Oct. 8.—Arrangements have been completed for Charles E. Hughes' first up-State tour, which begins to-morrow. He will leave the Grand Central Station at 8:05 o'clock to-morrow morning for Lyons, Wayne County. He is scheduled to reach Lyons to-morrow afternoon. He will address two meetings in that city to-morrow night, and will remain there until Wednesday morning, when he will start for Buffalo.

Mr. Hughes expects to meet many of the Republican leaders of Western New York in Buffalo on Wednesday. In the evening he will speak at a big mass meeting. He will make addresses Thursday at Geneva and Rochester. Friday he will speak at Canandaigua, Penn Yan, and Seneca Falls. On Saturday he will make addresses in Syracuse, Fonda, and Amsterdam.

Mr. Hughes spent a considerable part of the day at his office at Republican State headquarters. He conferred with President Herbert E. Parsons and Chairman Woodruff.

The Republican campaign managers are hard at work arranging an itinerary for another up-State tour to follow the one which Mr. Hughes will make this week.

Hearst Corporations Scored.

In speeches delivered to-night in Mount Vernon and Yonkers, Mr. Hughes set before the public a second chapter on Hearst corporations.

He showed that Hearst, notwithstanding his indiscriminate abuse of the corporations, had organized what is known as a holding company. This Mr. Hughes characterized as a device familiar to all corporation attorneys. Sometimes they even organize trusts that way, he suggested. This holding company—the Star Company—was assessed last spring, but Clarence J. Shearn, its secretary, and Mr. Hearst's "corporation attorney," wrote a letter of protest to the board of equalization, in which he declared in effect that the company's only asset was $100,000 of the stock of other corporations against which bonds had been issued. The assessment was removed.

Mr. Hughes presented another letter, written by Mr. Shearn, to the board of elections, in which he stated that the statement was published by the Star Company. Mr. Hughes called for information as to whether the first and second Star companies are identical.

If they are not, he would like to know whether the second, which publishes the American, has paid any taxes. His obvious suggestion was that it hadn't. Picking up an editorial admission in one of the Hearst papers yesterday, that a "legitimate, serviceable corporation is one thing, and a predatory corporation another," Mr. Hughes fired back with sarcasm which made the crowd howl with delight, this retort:

"Yes, and a sham corporation is another thing. And a corporation which does not pay its taxes is still another thing."

Hearst also was busy to-night. He addressed four big meetings in various sections of the city, making his trip between those points in a high-power automobile. His speeches followed the lines of his Buffalo address.

NOTHING FOR CHARITY

"Al" Adams' Will Leaves Fortune to His Family.

ESTATE IS WORTH $10,000,000

Document Places Valuation of $10,000,000 on Property and Executors Refuse to Discuss Subject of "Policy King's" Financial Condition—Owned Much Realty.

New York, Oct. 8.—Although, according to the will, the estate left by "Al" Adams, the late "policy king," is only $100,000, it is stated that its true value is nearer $10,000,000.

The will, which was filed to-day, bears the date of August 25, 1906, and in it not one cent is left to charity, or for the benefit of the thousands whose pennies saved for policy slips served to pile up the vast fortune for the deceased.

Except for two small annuities and one bequest of property in Rhode Island, the will gives the widow her dower right of one-third, the remainder being equally divided among his six children.

Executors to Give No Bond.

The executors named in the will, who are to serve without bond, are Charles F. Bauerdorf, lawyer, 111 Broadway; George Karsh, of the Karsh Brewing Company, and Christian F. Tietjen, president of the West Side Bank.

Mr. Tietjen already has declared that he will not serve as an executor. His reasons for refusing the responsibility of participating in the administration of the estate file do not disclose.

"The statement that Mr. Adams had suffered heavy reverses in business of late is ridiculous," declared Mr. Bauerdorf. "As to the value of the estate, it probably will be between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, but really I do not care to be quoted at any figure above the $200,000 named."

"I have heard that Mr. Tietjen has renounced the trust imposed by the will," continued the speaker, "but I have no knowledge of his reasons. It is entirely his affair—his personal affair."

Two Will Manage Estate.

"No, there will be no substitution. I have no reason to believe that the beneficiaries have not entire confidence in the ability of the two remaining executors to manage the estate."

The estate, according to Mr. Bauerdorf, included a three-quarter interest in the Karsh Brewing Company, which owns upward of one hundred choice liquor-store corners in Manhattan, valued at $4,000,000.

Adams was also the controlling owner of the Guaranty Amalgamated Gold Mining Company of Mexico, incorporated at $30,000,000, which represented a personal investment by him of $10,000,000, and which would begin operations on November 1. Besides, Adams personally owned much realty in Manhattan, and a great quantity of valuable stocks and bonds.

APPLEBY HAS BEST SCORE

Secures Trophy in Long-range Shoot Held Yesterday.

Final Events Closed the Most Successful Shoot Ever Held by the District National Guard.

The most successful shoot ever held by the District of Columbia National Guard, was brought to a close at the rifle range on Congress Heights yesterday afternoon. Three matches were carried over from Saturday, on account of the bad weather conditions. These were the Senatorial trophy match, the distinguished Marksman's match, and the Gerstenberg trophy match. Lieut. Farrow, who last week made the remarkable score of forty-eight out of a possible fifty in the Harries match, only succeeded in scoring a total of six out of a possible thirty-five.

The best score of the afternoon was made by Private Appleby, who made a total of 43 out of a possible 50 in the Gerstenberg trophy match at 1,000 yards. Lieut. Farrow again fell down in this match, making but 26 out of 50.

Lieut. Holt Also Wins.

Lieut. Holt won the Senatorial trophy match by shooting better than 500. This trophy was presented by twenty-one senators and is to be held one year. The winner is entitled to a gold badge designating him as the champion rifleman of the District of Columbia and to a cash prize of $5. A second prize of $5 is provided, as is a prize of $2 each to the five next lowest. Following are the high scores:

Lieut. Holt, 52; Col. Reichelderfer, 51; Lieut. Morris, 50; Sgt. Farrow, 49; Private Appleby, 48; Lieut. Brown, 47; Sgt. Brown, 46; Capt. Wagner, 45; Sgt. Groome, 44; Lieut. Mattox, 43; Capt. Bran, 42.

Col. Reichelderfer Wins Medal.

Col. Reichelderfer won the Distinguished Marksman's Match and consequently the handsome medal presented by Maj. E. H. Neunmeyer and a cash prize of $5. This medal is to be won three times before it becomes the property of any individual. It is at present held by Private Morris Appleby. There were no other prizes. Following are the high scores:

Col. Reichelderfer, 51; Private Appleby, 49; Capt. Cook, 48; Lieut. Heidreich, 47; Lieut. Farrow, 46; Sgt. Groome, 45; Lieut. Mattox, 44; Capt. Bran, 43.

Although Private Appleby and Morris are apparently tied for the Gerstenberg trophy, Private Appleby is the winner by reason of the fact that he scored 43 at 1,000 yards, while Private Morris scored 40 at this distance. The trophy is in the form of a cup presented by Mr. Ernst Gerstenberg, and is to be won under the conditions governing the Senatorial trophy. It is at present held by Capt. W. W. Crookston. Private Appleby was awarded one of the gold medals presented to each winner. The high scores of this match were:

Private Appleby, 51; Private Morris, 51; Capt. Mattox, 49; Lieut. Brown, 48; Col. Reichelderfer, 47; Capt. Cook, 46; Lieut. Heidreich, 45; Sgt. Groome, 44; Lieut. Mattox, 43; Capt. Bran, 42.

Gave Dinner at New Willard.

John Thilman Hendrick gave a dinner last night at the New Willard Hotel for Dr. William B. Lane, first vice president of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, of New York, and Clarence F. Norment, the Washington director of the corporation. A number of prominent Washington business men were among the guests.

FOLK IS REPUDIATED.

St. Louis Democratic Convention Disapproves of His Work.

St. Louis, Oct. 8.—The Democratic city convention to-night repudiated Gov. Joseph W. Folk in unmistakable shape. When Attorney Paul Dillon introduced a resolution endorsing Gov. Folk's stand in keeping down the "lid" the convention for fully fifteen minutes was in a uproar. In voice and manner fully 90 per cent of the delegates showed their disapproval by continued hisses and catcalls.

When Dillon arose again to get a specific endorsement of Folk he was hooted down and met with cries of "Put him out" by the angry delegates. The resolution was finally voted down, Dillon voting the lone affirmative.

HER CHILDREN A BURDEN.

Cause Assigned for Death of Woman Who Leaped Into River.

New York, Oct. 8.—The body of the drowned woman found off the foot of Thirty-eighth street, Brooklyn, on Sunday, was identified at the morgue to-day as that of Mrs. Marie Greely, of 319 Boulevard, Rockaway Beach. Mrs. Greely jumped from the dock at the foot of East Eighth-street, Manhattan, on Thursday night. She was seen by the children of a barge, who attempted to rescue her by means of a boat hook, but the woman evaded the hook and sank out of sight.

Mrs. Greely early last week visited the police station in Manhattan and asked the sergeant to care for her two children. She told the sergeant that the children were in the way and prevented her from having a good time. She was locked up and the children cared for. The next day she was sent to Bellevue Hospital, where she remained for several days, being discharged on Thursday. It is believed she at once walked to the place from which she jumped into the river.

The identification to-day was made by nurses from the hospital, and the clothing found on the dock corresponded with the clothing on her when the body was recovered. Mrs. Greely is said to have a husband who is a waiter in Washington.

No waiter named Greely could be found among the local hotels or restaurants in Washington last night, and no one of that description is named in the city directory. Neither do the police know of any such man.

FAILS TO PICK SUSPECT

Kidnapped Heiress Is Not Able to Identify a Prisoner.

Girl Stops in Front of Man, but Refuses to State Positively That She Recognizes Him.

New York, Oct. 8.—Miss Eugenia Ladenburg, heir to an estate of $7,000,000, left by Adolf Ladenburg, appeared in Yorkville Court to-day as a result of the arrest of James Brady, who was suspected by the police of being one of the two men who tried to kidnap her near the Long Island City ferry.

The girl, looking carefully, made her only stop when she came to Brady. She looked at him keenly and he in turn gazed unflinchingly into her face. After hesitating a moment or two, Miss Ladenburg turned to Sgt. Bingham and said she was not sure whether he was the man or not. Brady was sent back to his cell.

RAILWAY CARS PLUNDERED

Southern Railway Company Has Been Constantly Losing Small Articles—Several Arrests Made and More May Follow—Herald Pleases People of Virginia City.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, Northeast Corner First and R Street, Alexandria, Va., Oct. 8.—The police this evening recovered a case and a half of hats, one overcoat, one sack coat, a large quantity of colored silk, and a pair of shoes, which are now in the storehouse of the station-house awaiting identification. It is believed that the finding of these goods will lead to recovery of more, which the police believe have been stolen from the cars of the Southern Railway Company.

Edward Waters, white, and Albert Green, colored, are locked up at police headquarters. Several other white men were also brought in. The recovery of the goods and the arrests were made by Chief Goods, Policemen Roberts, Young, Garver, and Bell. The goods were recovered at the places of Waters and Green, in the northwestern section of the city.

For some time past the cars of the Southern Railway Company have been systematically robbed, and efforts on the part of the police to apprehend the thieves have proved futile. Hardly a day passes that a petty robbery is not reported by the company. To-night the police are diligently working up the case, and by morning they expect to make it complete.

Travis in the nighttime for the purpose of committing a felony. The case commenced at 10 o'clock this morning before Judge Louis C. Bailey and attracted considerable attention.
